Do you or someone you know need the type of care provided in an adult care home special dementia unit and need help paying for this care? Read further about eligibility for the Special Assistance Adult Care Home Special Care Unit Program.

Can I get help paying my expenses at an adult care home?

The State/County Special Assistance for Adults Program helps pay for room and board for older adult or adults with disabilities who need to live or are currently in an adult care home but cannot afford it. The assistance benefits are issued monthly to eligible individuals living in eligible licensed adult care facilities, as long as that facility is licensed by the NC Division of Health Service Regulation and follows anti-discrimination practices of the Civil Rights Act.

Am I eligible?

Individuals with low income are potentially eligible if they are age 65 or older, or if they are 18 or older and under 65 and are disabled according to Social Security disability standards; and all applicants must:

- Need adult care home level of care in a Special Care Unit for Alzheimer’s or related disorders, as verified by a health care provider
- Be a U.S. citizen or qualified alien
- Meet income and asset eligibility requirements
- Be a resident of NC
- Meet all other Special Assistance eligibility requirements

NOTE: If you are eligible for the Special Assistance Adult Care Home Program, you are automatically eligible for Medicaid. Medicaid helps pay for medical expenses, prescription medications (for individuals who do not have Medicare), and treatment. Medicaid also helps pay for personal care services which include assistance with activities of daily living, such as dressing and bathing.*

Financial Eligibility Requirements Apply

When you apply for Special Assistance, you will be assigned a Department of Social Services (DSS) caseworker who will determine your eligibility. In the process of determining eligibility, there are certain income deductions for earned and unearned income and assets that may be excluded.

Examples of countable income include wages, Social Security and Supplemental Security income, and Veteran’s Administration income.

Your DSS caseworker can explain how income is budgeted for Special Assistance Adult Care Home eligibility, and can also explain how assets and income are verified and counted in the Special Assistance eligibility process.

How much will my Special Assistance benefit be?

The maximum Special Assistance payment an eligible individual can receive is tied to the maximum rate adult care homes can charge Special Assistance recipients for room and board. The maximum rate (set by the North Carolina General Assembly) that adult care homes can charge an SA recipient for room and board in a Special Care Unit (SCU) for Alzheimer’s or related disorders is currently $1,647.

An income-eligible individual's benefit amount is determined by taking the maximum rate and subtracting the individual's total monthly countable income. A personal needs allowance of $70 is added to the maximum rate to allow an individual spending money for clothes and other essentials each month.

$1,647	SCU Rate
+ 70	Personal Needs Allowance
= $1,717	Maintenance Amount
- subtract	Countable monthly income
=	Monthly Special Assistance Payment Amount

Note: As of 1/1/2023, rates shall be adjusted yearly using the federally approved Social Security cost-of-living change (if any) that is effective for the applicable year. Please confirm the published rates with the county department of social services.*
