Ongoing telephone and e-mail monitoring are documented by the NCDSS Program Consultant when it pertains to possible contractual non-compliance issues.

After the first quarter, a conference call is conducted between the NCDSS Program Consultant and Contractor staff to review performance monitoring and quarterly report(s) and ensure that required components of services, accurate monthly reporting, and fiscal procedures are being implemented and baseline data is being compiled to fulfill the evaluation plan of the contract.

NCDSS will conduct a monitoring review on each Contractor at least once during the award cycle unless the need for greater frequency is indicated. NCDSS will send a monitoring notification letter that outlines review topics, such as program services (including outputs, outcomes, model fidelity, and participation in implementation support), fiscal management, compliance, personnel, safety, organizational capacity, subcontract services and evaluation. NCDSS reserves the right to conduct unannounced on-site monitoring reviews.

NCDSS shall monitor the Contractor according to the NC DHHS/DSS Sub recipient Monitoring Plan. This includes compliance with federal areas under the CFR Title 2 Part 200. After the review, the NCDSS Program Consultant will send a formal written monitoring report letter to the Contractor’s Executive Director and Board Chair which contains recommendations and corrective action findings, if applicable. Members represent diverse fields such as early childhood, education, public health, mental health, child protection, medicine, domestic violence prevention, law, and family support. The Prevention Action Network offers members access to training, resources, and networking opportunities to help them strengthen their capacity to serve North Carolinians. NCDSS will provide all Family Support Program Services Contractors with an annual Prevention Action Network membership.

II. GOVERNING LEGISLATION and FUNDING SOURCES

The mission of NCDSS is to provide family-centered services to children and families to achieve well-being through ensuring self-sufficiency, support, safety, and permanency. NCDSS is guided by both federal and state legislation designed to protect children and strengthen safe, stable, and nurturing families. As such, the following federal and state requirements govern the administration of the Family Support Program Services:

Promoting Safe and Stable Families Amendments (PSSF) of 2001 and The Child and Family Services Improvement and Innovation Act (P.L. 112-34)

This program provides funding to States to develop, establish, expand, and/or operate coordinated programs of community-based family support services, family preservation services, family reunification services, and adoption promotion and support services to accomplish the following objectives:

- To prevent child maltreatment among at-risk families by providing supportive family services.
- To assure children’s safety within the home and preserve intact families in which children have been maltreated, when the family’s problems can be addressed effectively.
- To address the problems of families whose children have been placed in foster care so that reunification may occur in a safe and stable manner.
- To support adoptive families by providing services as necessary to prevent disruptions and make a lifetime commitment to their children.

Community-Based Child Abuse Prevention (CBCAP) (P.L. 111-320)

This program provides funding to States to develop, operate, expand, and enhance community-based, prevention-focused programs and activities designed to strengthen and support families to prevent child abuse and neglect. The program is part of the 2003 Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (CAPTA). NCDSS serves as the CBCAP state lead designee to implement child maltreatment prevention programs. Some of the core features of the program include:

- Blending Federal, State, and private funds for community-based agencies to implement child abuse and neglect prevention activities and family support programs.
- Emphasis on promoting parent leadership and participation in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of prevention and family support programs.
- Collaboration with public and private agencies to form child abuse prevention networks to promote greater coordination of resources.
- Funding to support voluntary services such as home visiting, parenting education and support, family resource centers, respite and crisis care, and other family support programs.
- High quality evidence-based programs and practices.
- Qualitative and quantitative evaluation approaches to assess the effectiveness of the funded programs and activities.
North Carolina Child Welfare Reform (Rylan’s Office)

In 2017, the NC Family and Child Protection and Accountability Act (Rylan’s Law) enacted comprehensive social services and child welfare reform within a new structure of regional supervision of counties. As part of Rylan’s Law, the Center for the Support of Families (CSF) evaluated and developed strategic plans for social services that addressed leadership and governance at the state and regional levels to improve outcomes for children and families. CSF’s child welfare reform plan made recommendations in ten areas of child welfare administration and service provision, including improvements to child fatality oversight, enhancements to preventive and in-home services and the implementation of a statewide, trauma informed, culturally competent child welfare practice framework. For more information, click on Social Services and Child Welfare Reform Reports.

Families First Prevention Services Act (Family First)

This federal law transforms various aspects of the child welfare system, including informing NCDSS strategic investments in child maltreatment prevention across the entire child welfare continuum. Family First aims to prevent children from entering foster care by allowing federal Title IV-E reimbursement for selected mental health services, substance use treatment, and in-home parenting skill training. The NC Family First Prevention Plan will draw upon the state’s prevention and treatment systems for the implementation of evidence-based and trauma informed services. NCDSS will, in turn, build on the Family First Prevention Plan to develop a comprehensive child maltreatment prevention framework that addresses readiness, alignment, and implementation considerations involved in Family First, Rylan’s Law, Medicaid reimbursable funds, and community-based prevention programs funded through Title IVB-2, CBCAP, and NC CTF.

III. PROGRAM PURPOSE AND REQUIREMENTS

Research confirms child abuse has a long-term negative impact on a child’s life and the entire community, harming both quality of life and prosperity. Children who experience abuse and/or severe neglect often develop toxic levels of stress. If prolonged, this high level of stress can damage the developing architecture of a child’s brain, which may lead to significant behavioral changes. In 2005, the Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE) Study surveyed 17,000 adults about their childhood experiences and compared them with their health histories. The research found that people who suffered more incidences of severe adversity in childhood, such as violence, poverty, substance abuse in the home, child abuse and neglect, were far more likely to suffer long-term intellectual, behavioral, and physical and mental health problems as adults.

Quality, trauma-informed prevention programs that strengthen family resilience and protective factors offer great promise for improving a child’s overall well-being. When delivered with model fidelity evidence-based programs can increase the capacity of caregivers to care for their children, help children develop healthy coping mechanisms, improve caregiver-child relationships, and reduce family stress. Based on prevention research, NCDSS will fund family support models that provide community-based outreach, support and services to children and their families identified as being at-risk of compromised health and safety to reduce those risks by promoting protective factors.

In addition, North Carolina Family Support Program Services applicants shall meet all of the following requirements to be eligible for funding:

NCDSS Family Support RFA #SFY2022-2024FSPRFA
2. Demonstrate a commitment to meaningful parent engagement and leadership opportunities.
3. Provide prevention services that target populations most at risk of child abuse or neglect.
4. Promote the five protective factors linked to lower incidence of child abuse and neglect.
5. Provide a plan to maintain program fidelity through implementation support
6. Use evaluation tools to demonstrate positive outcomes for children and families.
7. Promote racial equity, diversity and inclusion within the agency and programs.

1. Principles of Family Support Practice

   Family Support is based on the premise that primary responsibility for the development and well-being of children lies within the family and communities must support families as they raise their children. Family support services are designed to strengthen families, helping parents to raise their children in safe, stable, and nurturing environments. The nine Principles of Family Support are:

   1. Staff and families work together in relationships based on equality and respect.
   2. Staff enhances families’ capacity to support the growth and development of all family members – adults, youth, and children.
   3. Families are resources to their own members, to other families, to programs, and to communities.
   4. Programs affirm and strengthen families’ cultural, racial, and linguistic identities and enhance their ability to function in a multicultural society.
   5. Programs are embedded in their communities and contribute to the community-building process.
   6. Programs advocate with families for trauma-informed services and systems that are fair, responsive, and accountable to the families served.
   7. Staff work with families to mobilize formal and informal resources to support family development.
   8. Programs are flexible and continually responsive to emerging family and community issues.
   9. Principles of family support are modeled in all program activities, including planning, governance, and administration.

2. Parent Engagement and Leadership:

   Developing strong relationships between parents and staff is an essential ingredient in the program’s ability to succeed. When parents and other caregivers feel valued and supported, they are more likely to accept and use new information. Parents offer unique perspectives to improve the quality of services and ensure the programming meets the community’s needs. All Contractors will be required to develop a parent engagement plan during the first six months of the grant cycle.
3. Levels of Prevention and Target Populations

NCDSS Family Support Program services must be primary or secondary child abuse prevention services since the goal is to provide services prior to the incidence of abuse and neglect. Levels of Prevention are defined as follows:

Primary Prevention activities are directed at the general population to stop maltreatment before it occurs. All community members have access to and may benefit from these services. Primary prevention activities may raise the awareness of the general public, service providers, and decision-makers about child maltreatment. Universal approaches to primary prevention might include:

- Parent education programs and support groups that focus on child development, age-appropriate expectations, and positive discipline
- Family support and strengthening programs that enhance the parents’ ability to access existing services and support positive interactions among family members

Secondary Prevention activities are offered to populations that have one or more risk factors associated with child maltreatment. While not predictive, risk factors identify common features of families, parents/caregivers, children and their environment where abuse or neglect most often occur. Secondary prevention programs may target services for individuals, neighborhoods, or communities that have a high incidence of these risk factors. Secondary prevention programs might include:

- Parent education programs located in high schools for teen parents or those within substance abuse treatment programs for families with young children
- Home visiting programs that provide support and assistance to expecting and new mothers in their homes

If providing secondary prevention programming, applicants must demonstrate that they intend to target one or more of the following populations:

- Families and children living in poverty
- Parents/caregivers abusing substances
- Young parents and/or parents of young children (birth through 5 years) (Please note that the Contractor should refer ALL family members to needed services, regardless of age).
- Single parents
- Families experiencing domestic violence
- Parents/caregivers and/or children with disabilities or mental illness
- Fathers, non-custodial parents, and parent companions
- Former adult victims of child abuse and neglect
- Homeless youth and families experiencing homelessness
- Tribal populations
- Military families
- Victims of Human Trafficking

Tertiary prevention consists of activities targeted to families that have substantiated child abuse and neglect reports. These families have already demonstrated the need for intervention, either with or without court supervision. Tertiary prevention services will not be funded under this Request for Application.
4. Promoting Protective Factors

NCDSS is committed to achieving safety, permanency and well-being for North Carolina’s children and their families. Although secondary prevention targets populations with risk factors, participating families respond better when their strengths, instead of deficits, are emphasized. The Center for the Study of Social Policy (CSSP) conducted research suggesting that a Strengthening Families Framework that identifies protective factors can significantly reduce incidences of childhood maltreatment and trauma. The Strengthening Families Protective Factors Framework offers an intentional focus on optimal family and child development that identifies five protective factors that are relevant for the continuum of child welfare services.

North Carolina Family Support Program Services agencies’ outcomes should support the strengthening of the following five protective factors:

- Parental Resilience - A parent’s ability to cope effectively with the various challenges of parenting and everyday life and their ability to overcome life’s challenges. Examples include services that help caregivers establish relationships with friends, family, and professionals that provide on-going encouragement and knowledge of accessible community resources.

- Social Connections - Positive relationships with friends, family members, neighbors, and others who can provide concrete and emotional support to parents and caregivers. Examples include services that strengthen family relationships, friendships, and formal support.

- Knowledge of Parenting and Child Development - Accurate information about raising children and appropriate expectations for their behavior. Examples include parenting education through parent support groups, education classes, or home visitation.

- Concrete Support in Times of Need – Support may include financial, transportation, and food assistance, job training, and/or mental health services. Examples include services that provide immediate, tangible resources to families in crisis.

- Children’s Social and Emotional Development - A child’s ability to interact effectively with others positively and articulate their feelings. Examples include services that provide children and caregivers a safe and nurturing place to “practice” normal roles and behaviors, strengthening a positive parent-child relationship.

For more information, click on Strengthening Families and Protective Factors Framework

CSSP has developed a Strengthening Families Self-Assessment Tool for Community-Based Programs that uses concrete, observable items to help agencies make “small but significant changes” in program practice to build protective factors. All Contractors will complete the self-assessment tool within the first six months of Year 1 of the grant cycle. The Contractor will form a Self-Assessment Team that represents different perspectives within the agency, including administrative staff, direct service staff, and parents/caregivers who participate in family support programs. After completing the assessment, the Contractor will develop an action plan to build protective factors within programs by the end of Year 1. The Self-Assessment Team will review this tool and action plan annually during the first 6 months of Year 2 and Year 3 of the grant cycle.

5. Model Fidelity and Implementation Support

Model fidelity is a critical component to successfully implementing evidence-based programs, ensuring that the program is delivered consistently as the developer intended in order to achieve desired outcomes. All Contractors will be required to maintain model fidelity. Research shows that programs are most effective when providers receive regular, on-going implementation support. Agencies benefit from specific implementation support around developing recruitment plans to attract, enroll, and retain eligible program participants; hiring skilled and experienced staff; delivering curricula content; strengthening adherence to model fidelity; making program material relevant to participants, and increasing practitioners’ confidence and competence in delivering programs.

All Family Support Contractors must obtain and participate in implementation support during each grant year in order to ensure continued model fidelity and program sustainability. Implementation support may include learning collaboratives, pre and post capacity questionnaire, coaching calls, goal development and monitoring, site visits, observation, videotaping, and learning collaboratives.

Contractors implementing the Incredible Years, Strengthening Families Program (6-11), Circle of Parents, and/or Triple P, Level 4 Standard or Group are required to budget for and use implementation support provided by Prevent Child Abuse North Carolina (PCANC). Applicants are encouraged to contact PCANC staff and visit their website at Prevent Child Abuse NC to access program specific information regarding NCDSS implementation support expectations and implementation guidelines.

Contractors providing Triple P will be required to coordinate with the Lead Implementing Agency (LIA) in their Triple P Region. The LIAs provide implementation support for practitioners on training and coaching; community outreach and communications; and data collection, reporting and continuous quality improvement. Contractors implementing Triple P will also be required to participate in the Peer Assisted Supervision and Support model (PASS). PASS is a feedback structure that allows providers to learn from one another and improve consultation skills. Applicants are encouraged to contact their LIA Coordinator to discuss implementation support available to Triple P Practitioners. Please see link in Appendix C to view the NC Triple P Regional Map including LIA contacts.

6. Evaluation

Applicants must demonstrate the capacity to achieve positive outcomes for children and families who participate voluntarily in their services. A logic model leads to greater outcome accountability, visually demonstrating how staff time, funding, and other resources result in positive changes for children and families. The logic model helps the applicant plan services, link those services to outcomes, and identify tools to measure whether the stated outcomes were achieved. Applicants must develop a logic model for each proposed family support curricula.

NCDSS has the following shared vision for each program: Families increase protective factors to provide their children with safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments to reach their full potential.

NCDSS has also identified shared outcomes and evaluation tools for all eligible program models listed in this RFA. Applicants must complete the following sections of the appropriate Logic Model Template for each program model proposed in the application:

- Resources,
- Activities & Services,
- Population Served, and
- Additional Tools, if needed
Applicants may not exceed 1 page for each curricula’s logic model.

All Contractors implementing Incredible Years, Strengthening Families Program, Circle of Parents, and Triple P are required to participate in state-level evaluations.

All Contractors implementing Triple P are required to submit data to the appropriate NC Triple P Lead Implementing Agency each quarter.

All Contractors implementing Parents as Teachers, PCIT, ABC, and Stewards of Children must submit Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) strategies and outcome evaluation data.

7. Racial Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion

NC DHHS/DSS is committed to racial equity as part of an overall emphasis on diversity and inclusion that is critical to the sustainability and successful implementation of the agency’s mission. In 2020, NC DHHS added the value of “Belonging” to “intentionally promote an inclusive, equitable workplace that reflects the communities we serve, where everyone feels a sense of belonging, and our diverse backgrounds and experiences are valued and recognized as strengths.” This value should be subsequently reflected in both state Divisions’ and local Contractors’ work. Applicants must describe their approach to building racial equity and inclusion at the community, agency, staff, and/or programmatic levels.

SCOPE OF WORK

Needs Assessment (Two-page limit)

Describe the targeted community need the proposed family support program(s) will address by answering the following questions: Applicants must use data and citations to support need statements, including the NC County Child Victimization SFY 2020 Data.

1. What are your community’s socio-economic strengths, resources, gaps, and needs, including but not limited to child maltreatment?

   - How might the proposed service decrease these rates in the long-term?

Applicants may find some statistical data and/or needs assessments at collaborating agencies and organizations. Additional information can also be found at the following links:

APPENDIX B: DEFINITIONS

Activities/Services (sometimes referred to as outputs) This is the portion of your agency’s logic model where the services consumers will receive are listed. What are the activities provided that are directly linked to achieving the desired outcomes that?

Child Victimization Rates Child victimization rates are calculated by dividing the number of unique children reported as victims of maltreatment by the number of children living in the state and counties as estimated by the U.S. Census Bureau. The child victimization count is the non-duplicated number children whose cases were substantiated for child abuse, neglect, or dependency or received a finding of “Services Needed.” during a state fiscal year. That figure is then multiplied by 1,000 to obtain a rate per 1,000. The annual rate of child maltreatment is reported statewide as well as for individual counties.

Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) CQI activities ensure that programs are systematically and intentionally increasing positive outcomes for the families they serve. It is an ongoing process that involves: Collecting data, reviewing and analyzing data, and adjusting practices based on findings.

Core Components These are the key services or activities of an evidence-based program that have been demonstrated to lead to the identified program outcomes. These components must remain intact during any implementation of that program.

Evidence-Based Programs use a defined curriculum or services that, when implemented with fidelity, have been validated by research. Different types of evidence-based programs include “supported” or “well-supported,” based on the strength of the research design.

Measurement Tools are valid, reliable instruments that determine whether or not a goal or outcome has been achieved.

Logic Model A logic model is a map of the program. It is a simple, logical illustration of what the program does, why the program does it, and how observers know if the program is successful.

Model Fidelity This means implementation of an evidence-based program as it was intended by the program developer. Fidelity Measures are evaluation measures that monitor the faithfulness of implementation to the core components of the model. This measure allows programs to understand if outcomes are based on the model or are attributed to other, possibly unknown, factors.

Program Developer The program developer is the originating source of an evidence-based program or practice model. This may be an individual or an institution.

Inputs/Resources Resources detail what the program needs to provide services according to model fidelity. Resources may include staffing, a curriculum, training, childcare, transportation, meals, meeting space. Think of this as a budget justification.

Target Population This is a description of the population the program serves or plans to serve.
