Child Welfare Quarterly Reports

Lisa Cauley - April 27, 2021
Child Welfare Quarterly Report

• Created by UNC School of Social Work, led by Dean Duncan

• This quarter’s report focuses on the impact of the pandemic on the child welfare system

• A copy of the report is attached to this webinar

• Will be posted on the UNC website
Quarterly Report Main Points

• The pandemic had an unparalleled, widespread, and sustained impact on child welfare.
• There were significant decreases in maltreatment reports, substantiated and non-substantiated findings, entries and exists into foster care, which have yet to recover to pre-pandemic levels.
• Declines in referrals from educational personnel due to school closures and ongoing disruptions explained much of the decrease in maltreatment reports.
Quarterly Report Main Points

• The rate of decline was not as steep for substantiations, entries into foster care, and exits for foster care as that of non-substantiated findings and overall reports, suggesting that the child welfare system continued to respond to the most at-risk and worked to achieve permanence for most children already in care.
